Vox's holiday giving guide features IPA & evidence-based charities

Writing for news site Vox.com, Dylan Matthews gives their holiday charity recommendations, formed around the kind of evidence produced by IPA and its partners. He discusses deworming, free distribution of bednets, and direct cash transfers, among others. Crucially, he points out what he calls "meta charities" like IPA and GiveWell, that channel other efforts efficiently, can return more than a dollar for each dollar invested.
