

Article Link<http://www.theatlantic.com/business/archive/2015/06/can-jobs-deter-crime/396758...>

The Atlantic covers research on how to integrate ex-combatants in Liberia

IPA's research in Liberia with Chris Blattman of Columbia University and Jeannie Annan of the International Rescue Committee, is featured in The Atlantic article "Can Jobs Deter Crime?" The research evaluated a program aimed at young men, giving them literacy and vocational training along with cash to buy agricultural supplies. Overall the data showed the group who participated in the program spent more time on agricultural activities, and had higher assets, along with less interest in joining a new conflict in neighboring Cote d'Ivoire.

June 25, 2015