IPA Study Featured at the Learning and Teaching for Sustainable Development Conference

IPA's study Mentoring and Experiential Learning for Early Education Student Teachers in Ghana was featured as a "quick fire" talk at UKFIET's conference Learning and Teaching for Sustainable Development: Curriculum, Cognition and Context in Oxford, United Kingdom. Participants discussed how curriculum—what is learned and taught—contributes to education's influence on sustainable development. Dominic Bond, the Managing Director of Sabre UK, presented the study.
