

Article Link

<https://www.ft.com/content/ed6d0c5e-bd61-11e7-823b-ed31693349d3>

In the Financial Times, How Data Can Help Philanthropy Measure What Matters

In the Financial Times, MIT's Tavneet Suri writes on the importance of good data for effective philanthropy in sub-Saharan Africa, citing IPA as an organization building the infrastructure for impact evaluations. Suri mentions her IPA-implemented study on the long-term effects of mobile money in Kenya as a model for impact evaluation involving private-sector partners.

November 15, 2017