

Article Link

<https://www.economist.com/news/finance-and-economics/21737282-evangelical-chari...>

The Economist Covers IPA Research on Values Training

The Economist reports on IPA's evaluation of a Christian business training program in the Philippines. Researchers evaluated the program for the poor, which provided health and business training, both with and without the religious messaging component. The evaluation showed that only the version with the religious component raised incomes and increased expressions of religious belief. However, it also reduced participants' perception of their relative economic status in their community.

February 26, 2018