Researchers Elisabetta Aurino and Sharon Wolf in The Conversation on Child Hunger Study in Ghana

Researchers Elisabetta Aurino and Sharon Wolf write in The Conversation about the impact of food insecurity on early child development. Referencing their long term research with Edward Tsinigo and IPA Ghana, which shows how hunger is associated with worse cognitive performance years later, they explain the long term consequences of hunger during the COVID crisis for children around the world.
