BBC Podcast: Getting Cash to Vulnerable People in Togo

The BBC People Fixing the World podcast (Apple) goes over how new research pairing satellite and phone data with machine learning is helping the government of Togo to get cash to people hit hard by the COVID crisis. They speak with research Josh Blumenstock about how it works.

April 30, 2021