

Researchers

Dean Karlan
Northwestern University

MTGI Released Today

More Than Good Intentions (MTGI), the new book by Dean Karlan and Jacob Appel was released today.

Order your copy here.

There are also a few new reviews up, by Joel Koczwarski, Debbie, and Tom Murphy. Tom is giving away his annotated copy in a little contest:

In the comment section, tell me one thing, organization, idea or person that you like in the world of aid and development with a sentence or two why. Using a randomized number generator, one lucky winner will receive my copy of More than Good Intentions, shipping on me, with a personal note of thanks from me and all of my notations taken while reading! To make it more interesting, I will match each entry (up to 50) with a $1 donation to IPA's Proven Impact Fund. So, for a few moments you can have a shot at winning a book and support a great organization.

Click here to enter.

Finally Dean and Jacob will be doing a Q&A on the Freakonomics blog over here. Happy Reading!

April 14, 2011